

Train the Trainer

Enhancing delivery performance

At IOSH, we believe everyone who attends our courses will emerge inspired, engaged and motivated, having had a memorable high-quality experience.

We aim to transform the training room into a welcoming and dynamic environment – not only for your delegates, but also for you, our trainers. To help you achieve this, we've developed our Train the Trainer e-learning course. This is an innovative toolbox of techniques, using established training theories and concepts to enable trainers to meet learners' needs. It will enhance and develop knowledge. It will help you to deliver engaging, learner-focused training, fully maximising the potential of the IOSH training material.

The course will develop your ability to run exciting and productive courses, develop essential training skills and promote a clear understanding of how to teach effectively – leaving you energised and well-equipped to deliver quality training sessions that will draw out the best input from you to get the best results from your audience.

Made up of six guided learning hours, the course is suitable for all levels of training experience, building your confidence so that you can embrace any training room scenario.

The course is aimed at people who deliver training for IOSH products, or aspire to do so. It will help trainers who do not currently hold a level 3 adult training qualification to fulfil this requirement. We already provide the assessment, workbook and presentation for all of our courses – so the focus of Train the Trainer is on great delivery.

The assessment

After completing the course, you are given a three-part assignment. This involves delivering a training session and then completing three short reflective statements. This gives you the chance to show how you meet the performance criteria, enabling you to apply your knowledge and skills practically to achieve the course's learning outcomes.

You submit your completed reflective statements to IOSH by uploading them to our Learning Management System. We provide easy-to-follow steps on how to do this.

IOSH reviews each assignment, awards a pass or fail and provides feedback, if required. Successful learners receive an IOSH certificate by email, which can be downloaded or printed.

Successful completion of the course supports part of the criteria required to train some of our products. The Train the Trainer certificate must be presented when applying to IOSH to become a trainer if you don't already hold a level 3 adult training certificate.

Pricing

The IOSH Train the Trainer course costs £26.00 + VAT and gives you full access to the course content and two attempts at the assessment.
