Getting your Vision Zero course approved

Which courses can IOSH approve?

We will consider any Vision Zero related course, in any delivery format, and work together with you to help your course gain IOSH approval.

We're here to help you and your delegates get the best out of your course. Visit to download a copy of Quality approval standards document to get you started. You can also download a copy of our Training Guidance Book, which will help you develop your course if you haven't finished writing it yet. We strongly recommend you work through our Standards and use them as a checklist as early as possible in the process of writing the course or preparing it for approval – this will help make the approval process quicker and easier for you.

If you've written a Vision Zero course, have one you're already delivering, or are thinking about writing one, then talk to us about the benefits of getting IOSH approval.

Why get your course approved by IOSH?

Trust and confidence in your training

Training providers all over the world work hard to get the IOSH name attached to their course materials. We make sure your course has the right safety and health content, is aimed at the right level and is based on good practice.

Building an IOSH-certificated workforce

Every learner who sits a course approved by us is tested by an end-of-course assessment. Everyone who achieves the pass mark for the course is awarded an IOSH certificate.

Working together

From the start, we'll give you advice, support and guidance to help you gain IOSH approval. You'll work closely with a member of our team.

A competitive edge

Training providers tell us that their clients value the IOSH name, which helps them sell more courses and gives them an advantage over their competitors.

IOSH approved Vision Zero courses will double that competitive edge.

Promoting your course

Until you become licensed for the course, you must state on all of your promotional materials that the course is pending IOSH approval. Once you are approved you're entitled to use the ISSA, Vision Zero and IOSH logos on your training course promotional material, including your website.

The logo must not be used as a general endorsement of your company or your courses, and can only appear alongside relevant IOSH courses. To see how IOSH approval has worked for others, go to:

Helping you get your course approved

Approving your course content and assessment:

We'll look at your course materials and check them against a set of standards, including learning and development and technical content and compliance.

Learning and development

We'll make sure your materials:

- facilitate a learning experience that is enjoyable and worthwhile
- contain the exercises and tools to present an engaging training programme
- have a suitable assessment that measures the learning outcomes set.

Technical content and compliance

We'll check that your materials:

- contain the right level of detail and explanations of current safety and health legislation and good practice
- include the subjects we would expect from the title
- suit the needs of the intended audience.

Trainers and competence

You'll need to have trainers with the appropriate level of skills and knowledge to run your course. All new trainers of Vision Zero:

- have a minimum of 2 years OSH experience (either training or as a practitioner)
- will have completed the Vision Zero Train the Trainer (unless they are an existing IOSH product trainer).

Some specialist courses may have different requirements, specifically to do with sector experience.

Quality control

You'll need to have someone within your organisation who has the appropriate knowledge, skills and experience to be responsible for the quality control of your IOSH training.

Approval costs and timings

The cost of approving your course will depend on the amount of content, its level of complexity, the delivery format (face-to-face or e-learning) and the quality of the materials you send us.

When we've reviewed your course materials, we'll let you know how long it'll take for approval and quote you a fee. Our approval fees are based on the time it takes us to approve the course.

To find out more, get in touch with our Course Approval team at ISSAVZ@iosh.com
